

School of Law

Center on Reproductive Health, Law, and Policy

Spring 2025 Externship with CRHLP

UCLA Law's Center on Reproductive Health, Law, and Policy (CRHLP) welcomes applications for spring externs to support our interdisciplinary work.

About CRHLP: CRHLP is a think tank and research center developing long-term, lasting solutions that advance all aspects of reproductive justice and address the current national crisis of abortion access. We do this by creating innovative legal strategies, policy solutions, and opportunities to convene around some of the most complex issues facing women, pregnant people, and families today. We do this by creating innovative legal strategies, policy solutions, and opportunities to convene around some of the most complex issues facing women, pregnant people, and families today.

About the Position: Part-time student externs will have the opportunity to contribute to our legal and interdisciplinary work, which includes policy and legal research and analysis and contributing to empirical research. This Spring, projects may include topics such as the reproductive rights of minors, increasing access to contraception at pharmacies, guaranteed payments to pregnant people and new parents, the privacy of reproductive health information, protecting access to medication abortion, and more. As available, externs will also have the opportunity to participate in convenings and meetings with advocates, scholars, health care providers, and community members on an array of reproductive health and justice topics.

Details: This position is available to 2L, 3L, and LLM students at UCLA Law. Please submit a resume, cover letter, and law school transcript to apply. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis through November 8, 2024. Interested students can submit applications through Simplicity or directly to Cathren Cohen at cohenc@law.ucla.edu.