

Summer Law Clerk Job Posting

Are you passionate about reproductive health care and reproductive justice? Do you want to contribute to meaningful research and policy work? The Center on Reproductive Health, Law, and Policy (CRHLP) seeks applications for summer law clerks to contribute legal and interdisciplinary research to support a range of Center projects.

CRHLP is a nationwide think tank and interdisciplinary research center created to meet the current national crisis in access to abortion while working towards long-term solutions to advance reproductive justice. The Center conducts analysis and research for legal, policy, and narrative change and serves as a trusted hub for convening and engaging academics, advocates, health care providers, policy makers, and community members to reimagine the landscape of reproductive health law and policy. CRHLP also trains the reproductive law and policy leaders of tomorrow and expands the capacity of the reproductive health and justice movements. The Center's work and impact is nationwide in scope but leverages its position within California and the UC system to maximize the reach of California's innovations and leadership status in abortion access, reproductive health and reproductive justice.

CRHLP projects include increasing access to contraception in pharmacies through pharmacist prescribing, analyzing legal developments in reproductive rights cases across the country, and conducting policy and legal research and analysis related to abortion policies, supporting our reproductive justice legal helpline, conducting client intake at our Medical-Legal Partnership, drafting blogs and opinion pieces, and more. Law clerks will also have the opportunity to participate in convenings and meetings with advocates, scholars, health care providers, and community members on an array of reproductive health and justice topics.

This position is open to 1L and 2L UCLA Law students.

Please submit a resume, cover letter, and law school transcript to Carley Towne at towne@law.ucla.edu. Priority consideration will be given to students that apply by January 30, 2024. Funding is available and will be discussed during the interview process.
